

The Impact of Time Management on the Competitiveness of the Organization Case Study - Bechar Algeria

Bendjima Omar

Laboratory of Economic Studies and Local Development in the Southwest, University of Bechar, Tahri Mohamed, Algeria

Zeghamine Mahmoud

Laboratory of Economic Studies and Local Development in the Southwest, University of Bechar, Tahri Mohamed, Algeria

Abstract

The objective of this study is to assess the impact of time management on the competitiveness of the Ophthalmology Foundation in Algeria, Cuba. We have analyzed this study using the two methods of questionnaire and observation which are the most important methods of collecting information. The high performance and double efforts of the worker and the great trust of the customers towards the enterprise, and this will give results in line with the objectives of the institution and the opportunity to achieve a competitive advantage.

Keywords

Time management, enterprise competitiveness, foreign worker, Algerian worker.